What's New At Dyed In The Wool

Lickin' Flames has added to their flock and we bought more Lamb & Sheep Forks while we were in Cleveland. Some with horns, some without, some look left while others look right. There are even a few spotted sheep to enjoy. Which will be your choice?

The newest yarn from Kelbourne is called Scout and it has arrived. This is a soft worsted in beautiful colors and a very nice price point, the yardage is really good too (not so many ends to sew in!).

We have received our shipment from Peru of a new sport weight yarn called Tawa. Carol has knitted a shawl in this soft blend of merino and silk that has been beautifully and botanically dyed.

Retirement Sale - no not us! Just putting a few yarns to rest to make room for what's to come. Details will be unveiled in the Dyed In The Wool Ravelry Forum

We are looking for a few volunteers to help us move some yarn on a Sunday towards the end of July. If you are interested please see us for more details.

What We Saw At Market

We saw some wonderful new designs, rich colors, fabulous textures and you will be able to see all of this in the coming months. As always we had a few favorites. The newest yarns and patterns from Rowan were jaw dropping gorgeous. The soft colors and textures from the Fibre Company were breathtaking. Kelbourne have surpassed themselves with their new yarns. There are a few new yarn companies that will be joining the ranks.....but I can't tell you about them yet. Maybe after a glass of wine at Wine & Design you might get one of us talking.

AngelHeart & Stitch of the Month

Lynda is making magic with some new stitches for you to learn. Each month there will be a new stitch for a baby beanie or bonnet for the AngelHeart program. When you turn in your hat you will be given a pattern for an adult accessory that features that stitch.

Wine & Design

I am sorry that Dana from Pichinku is not able to join us until August Wine & Design but we have managed to capture Carol Feller's latest Trunk Show. This will feature garments from her second book. Reservations are a must.

Classes

Blend With Us

We are having a class on the Blending Board. When you sign up you can choose from four color options: blues, greens, reds, neutrals. We will discuss the many ways to use the Blending Board to get the desired results for your spinning.

Un-named Shawl in Rayon Metallic

Carol is just putting the finishing touches on her newest design in Rayon Metallic by Blue Heron. That means she hasn't named it yet. She will be teaching this new shawl (we hope it will get a name by then) in the middle of the month. It requires one skein of this remarkable yarn.

Ease Into Cables

If you have ever wanted to try cables but think that they are going to be too hard then let us show you how easy they are. We think this will open up a whole new realm of possibilities.
