What's New At Dyed In The Wool

The new books have arrived from Rowan filled with delightful and wearable patterns. There is fairisle knitting, intarsia, cables, lace and so many other techniques, in other words, there's something for everyone. I have just finished the Grasmoor Scarf by Lisa Richardson from British Made book. It was an entertaining knit with the exceptionally beautiful Moordale yarn.

The Minimal Sweater from the cover of Magazine 65 is finished and ready for you to try on. This will be a class at the end of September. Please select your yarn color quickly just in case we have to order it. Also check out the colors of Creative Focus Linen for the Cuggle coming up soon.

The One Sweater from The Fibre Company has begun and the response is incredible. We have over 42 people making this sweater. When they are all done we are going to have to have a night out.

Unfortunately there has been a price increase in Road to China Light and Acadia. We will be holding our prices until the beginning of September so if you were planning a project with either or both of these yarns it might be good to buy it now.

The wonderful Christmas Sock Yarn from the West Yorkshire Spinners is available again. I have ordered a limited supply of both of the colorways.

Another supply of Forget Me Not Mitts have arrived from the Alpaca Company. These are great kits and we have three of every color.....for now!

Rowan Trunk Show

The Rowan Autumn/Winter 2019/2020 Trunk Show will be with us from September 6th through the 22nd. I hope you will be as excited as we are. Some of the garments will be the Dark Daisy Wrap, the Torstein Cowl, the Breeze Jumper and one of my favorites the Achebe Wrap. This is one you won't want to miss.

A Wine & Design to Remember

We are delighted to announce that our guest for the September Wine & Design will be the amazing Amanda. Amanda worked for Lorna's Laces and now is the proud owner of this wonderful yarn company. She will be discussing yarns, textures and color choices. There will be limited seating.

Minimal by Name

When Rowan gave the name of Minimal to this sweater I think it was almost a good choice. Believe it or not, there is minimal memorization or this amazing pattern but it looks stunning and complex when you wear it. Want to make one? Now you have to register and pick your color.

Intarsia Anyone?

This will be the second in the series of Intarsia classes. In this class we will be exploring all the angles. Diagonals as well as a review of our horizontals and verticals. We will be working in Rowan's Hand Knit Cotton for this project.

BritSpin

Our BritSpin Team is coming together. Our Captain Teresa will be hosting a Spin In/Get Together on September 14th followed by some British refreshments. Get in touch with Teresa using our Ravelry Forum for BritSpin or see her with us most Wednesday mornings/afternoons.

Depreciation Lands Gathering of Wheels

On September 8th at the Depreciation Lands Museum just off Route 8 there will be a spinning afternoon. Please see their website for further details. This should be a wonderful day out with other spinners. Bring your wheel and your admission is free.
