LYS Day is April 25th

I am really excited by the new colors and designs that are going to be shown on LYS Day. I received incredible colors from Urth Yarn with a lovely design to accompany the colors.

From Mira at Baah we have a stunning three skein shawl and I have a new one skein triangular shawl in Mira's LYS Day color.

Berroco will be hosting a raffle - details on the 25th in the shop.

This is just a small sampling of what will be happening. It is so hard not to share everything with you now but I can tell you it is worth waiting for.

Let's Get Ready for Fall

I really am not kidding. How many times have you made something that you are really excited about and when you get it finished it has to go in a drawer until the weather changes. This year we are going to really plan ahead. There will be a large variety of fun projects and techniques to be explored. I am already planning on what to buy for my fall/winter selections when I go to market in May. I will be featuring some of the projects coming up in the next Wine & Design. We will be beginning our fall/winter knitting very soon.

Wine & Design

I will be talking about all the wonderful plans I have for fall and winter along with a suggestion of what is going to come in. I may even have a few samples to show. For me fall/winter yarn buying is always really exciting and I know that I will be anxious to see the new colors and textures and dying to tell you all about what I saw as well as lots of inspirational pictures that I plan to take at market. Please let me know if you plan to attend at least a few days in advance.

Let's Get It Done on Thursday Evenings

Do you have a project that is almost done, maybe just a few ends to weave it, or some ribbing to finish. Bring it to a Knit, Spin, Weave or Crochet session and get it finished while enjoying the company of others doing the same. As always please let me know you will be attending at least the day before.

Just What We Need - New DPN Holders

Some of you are already familiar with Teresa and her wonderful bags and knitting accessories. She has been working on a DPN Holder for some time and now it is perfect. I have been using mine for over a month and would not change one thing about this bag. It is a tri-fold bag with an oversized flap that keeps me really organized. Nothing falls out which had been a problem with these types of holders in the past.

She also has some smaller DPN snapped holders for holding your DPNs while you are working on a project. I highly recommend these too.
