Small Business Saturday

I can't believe that it is Small Business Saturday already, where does the time go?. I will be open from 10am until 3pm.

What's In & Expected

There is good news and some not so good news here so get ready. I am expecting a wonderful box of LaJolla in spectacular Fall colors. This box will be filled with the rich colors of stone fruits and rich greens and golds of Fall. There are endless combinations of colors.

The not so good news is a small price increase on November 1st for LaJolla. It will be going from $31 to $32 on November 1st. If you are planning on buying some soon then you might not want to wait.

New colors of Cabrito and Alegria have arrived and they are gorgeous. Great combinations are available.

Introduction to Weaving

I will be running another Introduction to Weaving Class in November. If you haven't woven before but are curious then this is for you. In the first class you will learn to weave, in the second class you will learn how to dress the loom or warp and in the third you will perfect your techniques. Weaving is a great way to use up some of those odd ends of stash.

Spin In

There will be a Spin In on October 29th from 3pm until 5pm.

Volunteers Needed

Kelly, MaryBeth and I are looking for a few volunteers to assist us with the Women of Hope event. Please get in touch with us if you are able to help out.
