What's In & Expected

The Colors of the Month are on their way from Bach and Dream In Color. So looking forward to seeing them.

I only have one Spooky Hat kit remaining. If you would like this kit please let me know.

The soft and scrumptious Dash has arrived from Berroco and it is a large ball of gorgeous cream with splashes of color. Great for fingerless gloves, hats, cowls, scarves, vests or sweaters. The pattern book has one of each of these items. Couldn't be any softer!

This past week I have knitted up two wonderful patterns. The first is by Romi Hill called Twist & Vote, it is a delightfully easy hat that will fold up and tuck into a pocket. Made in DK weight I couldn't resist making it with Alpaca Soft. I also made one in Cotton Cashmere.

The second pattern was called Scottish Barley by cabinfour. This is a paid pattern but well worth the $5. It took just under half a ball of LaJolla and they are really wonderful. The cables are just enough to keep you interested and there is a cheat sheet available if you would like one.

Introduction to Weaving

I will be running an Introduction to Weaving Class on three Saturdays in October. If you haven't woven before but are curious then this is for you. In the first class you will learn to weave, in the second class you will learn how to dress the loom or warp and in the third you will perfect your techniques. Weaving is a great way to use up some of those odd ends of stash.

Spin In

There will be a Spin In on October 29th from 3pm until 5pm. Please let me know as soon as possible if you would be able to participate on November 13th. Lunch will be provided so I do need numbers. Thank you.

Two Events - One Weekend

Women for HOPE

On November 12th from 6:30pm until 8:30pm Dyed In The Wool will be hosting a Women for HOPE fundraiser at the House in Evergreen Park. There will be a guest speaker, silent auction, cookies, recipe exchanges and more. Please tell all your non knitting friends about this event. This will be an evening of women supporting women. More details will be posted on our Ravelry Forum as they become available.

Fall Fiber Festival

On November 13th we welcome everyone to the House at Evergreen Park for a day of fiber fun. There will be spinners and weavers, fleece washed and some dyed. Please tell your friends and neighbors about this day as we celebrate everything we love about Fall and Fiber.

Dates To Note:

Introduction to Weaving - October 8th, 15th & 22nd
Spin In - October 29th
Save The Dates - Evening, Nov. 12th
Spin In and maybe Fleece to Scarf - Nov. 13th
